The 55th APAN Meeting - Medical Education

2023.03.14

[Connecting institutions]

Kathmandu Marriott Hotel (Nepal),

Burdwan Medical College & Hospital (India),

University of Colombo (Sri Lanka),

Kyushu University Hospital (Japan)

[Comments]

Medical students and doctors need to be lifelong learners. We have tried to implement a few teaching-learning strategies with the help of technology in our Institution to make learning enjoyable and motivate young learners to learn. In this session, we tried to enhance self-directed learning skills by demonstrating how to make students learn in small groups and how a single faculty member can effectively manage 200 students. We could successfully conduct the session, but time management was a real challenge.

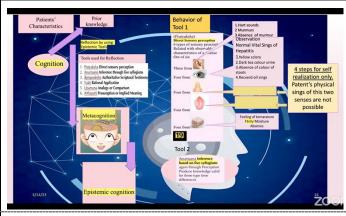

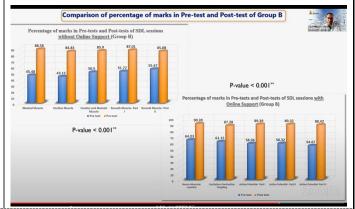

Monitor shows connected site

Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital

Dr. Maulik makes a presentation

Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital

A presentation slide

Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital

A presentation slide

Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital

Medical Education & Stress

- Medical education is one of the most stressful academic curricula across the globe.
- Academic pressure, lack of time for leisure or hobbies, chronic physical and psychological fatigue, and peer pressure are some of the causes that make life more stressful for medical students.

Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital

Teleconference view at the main venue

Picture taken at : Kathmandu Marriott Hotel