

【 Connecting institutions 】	【 Comments 】
Jigme Dorji Wangchuck National Referral Hospital (Bhutan), Central Regional Referral Hospital (Bhutan), Mongar Regional Referral Hospital (Bhutan), Trashigang General Hospital (Bhutan), Tsirang District Hospital (Bhutan), Oita University Hospital (Japan), Fukuoka University Chikushi Hospital (Japan), Osaka International Cancer Institute (Japan)	At the second Bhutanese gastrointestinal endoscopy workshop, Bhutanese doctors performed Endoscopic Mucosal Resection (EMR) and Endoscopic Submucosal Dissection (ESD) under the guidance of Japanese experts. Thirteen doctors from all over Bhutan participated. Holding the workshop will greatly contribute to Bhutanese doctors' acquisition of endoscopic diagnosis and treatment skills.

An endoscopic image of marking for ESD by Dr. Yao (ctr.) Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital	An endoscopic image of ESD by Dr. Prabhat Pradhan Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital

A photo of endoscopic surgery by Dr. Uedo (ctr.) Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital	Hands-on model for endoscopic observation Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital

Hands-on model for magnifying endoscopic observation Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital	Hands-on model for endoscopic observation Picture taken at : Kyushu University Hospital