Kyushu University Hospital (Japan), Keio University (Japan), Hokkaido University (Japan), Tohoku University (Japan), The University of Osaka (Japan)	As part of the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology's "Next-Generation Cancer Professional Training Program," we held a public symposium organized by the National Cancer Professional Council. In the first session, experts from across the country delivered lectures on optimal cancer care, and in the second session, specialists and patient-advocacy groups spoke from the perspective of supporting patients. The symposium provided a valuable opportunity to share information on emerging issues affecting the entire field of cancer care.
