The 61st APAN Meeting -PBSA (Pakistan Biological Safety Association)

【 Connecting institutions 】	【 Comments 】
Le Meridien Dhaka (Bangladesh), Kyushu University Hospital (Japan), Pakistan Biological Safety Association (Pakistan), Bahria University Health Sciences Campus (Pakistan), NIMS Medical Complex (Pakistan)	The APAN 61 session effectively enabled international collaboration and knowledge exchange among participating institutions, with smooth connectivity supporting real-time interaction. Presentations provided valuable insights into biosafety practices, infection control measures, and the integration of digital platforms for research and training. Discussions highlighted shared challenges in implementing biosafety standards, resource optimization, and the importance of capacity building in low- and middle-income settings. The session enhanced PBSA's international engagement and opened avenues for future collaboration and joint initiatives.
