#2150

2026.06.11

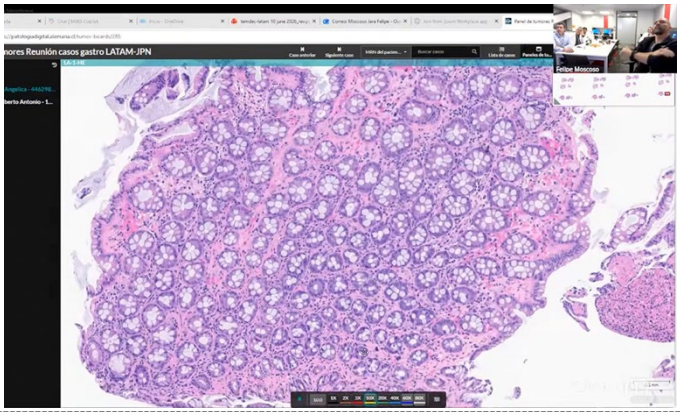

The 39th Latin American Endoscopy Teleconference

【 Connecting institutions 】	【 Comments 】
Kyushu U H (Japan), Gastro Clinica, Costa Rica (Costa Rica), Osaka International Cancer Institute (Japan), Kindai U (Japan), Fukuoka U Chikushi H (Japan), Kawanishi City Medical Center (Japan), Fujifilm Tokyo Midtown Office (Japan), H Nossa Senhora das Gracas (Brazil), H de Amor de Barretos (Brazil), H Sugisawa (Brazil), Clinica Alemana (Chile), U of Chile (Chile), Antofagasta H (Chile), Bolivian-Japanese Gastroenterology Institute (Bolivia, Plurinational State of) and 11 of others	Two cases were presented from Clinica Alemana, Santiago, Chile. We discussed about management of early gastric signet cell carcinoma in a patient with CDH1 mutation and strong family history of cancer, and another case with a diagnosis challenge in a patient with pulmonary cancer and colitis. Each case was presented with endoscopic and pathology images, with valuable input from pathologists. Every attending center participated by poll questions and discussion after de cases.

Monitor shows connected sites

Picture taken at：Kyushu University Hospital

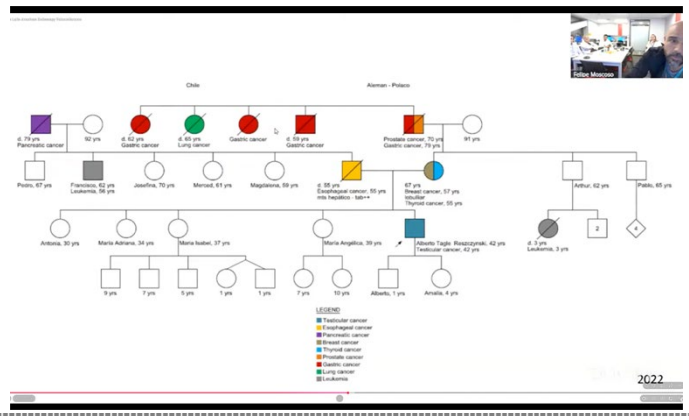

A presentation slide

Picture taken at：Kyushu University Hospital

A presentation slide

Picture taken at：Kyushu University Hospital

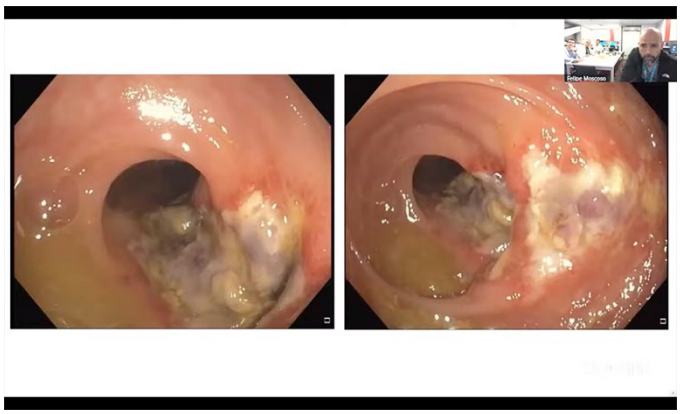

A presentation slide

Picture taken at：Kyushu University Hospital

A presentation slide

Picture taken at：Kyushu University Hospital

A presentation slide

Picture taken at：Kyushu University Hospital