Invitation

Dear colleagues,

It is my great pleasure to welcome you to the 2nd Asian Telemedicine Symposium to be held in Seoul National University Bundang Hospital on 5 December, 2008. Now the telemedical activity is being incorporated in various medical fields including the international medical congress on advanced medical techniques, medical education, and remote medical service. This symposium will offer an invaluable opportunity to global standardization of the telemedical activity in Asia through collaboration between Asian medical persons and engineers involved in this activity. I hope that all participants will take full advantage of this symposium and also keep academic and social relationships.

Sincerely yours,

Ho-Seong Han, M.D.
Chairman of the Department of Surgery,
Seoul National University Bundang Hospital
